

ASSESSMENT and ACCOUNTABILITY

LEADING FORWARD IN TIMES OF CHANGE

with Ervin Knezek & John Fessenden

TAKS is coming to a close . . . and STAAR is about to rise

As we start the 2010-11 school year, school leaders are asking the question, "What should we be doing to have a successful school year - while we prepare for 2011-2012?" You are invited to attend a one-day workshop presented by Ervin Knezek, Ed.D. and John Fessenden entitled:

Assessment and Accountability:

Leading Forward in Times of Change

The workshop will focus on known and anticipated changes in the assessment, accountability, curriculum, and professional development systems from two experienced and recognized state leaders in these areas. There will be time to explore each of these through four lenses:

- Learning – about the changes (what is known and what is anticipated)
- Energizing – educators to embrace the challenges of the new requirements
- Acting – in ways that support the systems and structures necessary to achieve success
- Developing – tools, strategies and plans to coordinate instruction, curriculum, assessment and accountability
